Comment Content: It is difficult to overstate my displeasure with this project. As someone who has lived, worked, hiked, camped, hunted, and biked in this area for 15 to 20 years, virtually every route will touch an area that touches my life. The above address is our weekend home and the lines will bisect the master planned community it lies in. The lines will ruin the vistas from our porch and the golf course as well as from our adjacent hunt club property in Polk County. Three of our children attend Camp Falling Creek, on another proposed route that would destroy the pristine beauty of the Green River valley. My wife owns property at Lake summit where we intend to retire one day. Proposed routes pass along the ridges on the north or south sides of the lake and would ruin the serenity of the lake, as well as three of the camps along the lake. My family and I hunt near Campobello SC and lines would pass through the property there as well. The information session that I attended was a complete sham. No information was given. No one spoke. No one answered questions. All you could do was stand in a long line in hopes of speaking to a person. The real questions to be answered are: Is this project necessary? Why? Why not use existing routes and right of ways? Why is it so necessary to degrade the landscape and spectacular beauty of the area where we live? No one has answered these questions satisfactorily. It is hard not to get the feeling that Duke Power is going through the required motions and will then proceed as it sees fit regardless of the objections raised. A lack of adequate response to these concerns will only confirm my suspicions.
